Competition Rules and Terms

1. Must be a valid OQtima trading account holder. Non-OQtima clients must register for an account before participating in the competition.

2. Competition nicknames must be letters and numbers, cannot include special characters.

3. The competition evaluates rewards based on effective trading lots and effective trading time.
   a) Explanation of Effective Trading Lots: Effective trading lots are assessed based on deposit requirements and standard lot sizes for each group. Please refer to the [Conditions of Participation] and examples for minimum trading lot requirements.
   b) Explanation of Effective Trading Time:
   Effective trading time requires maintaining positions for at least 5 trading days during the competition period or having trading activities on at least 5 trading days. 5 trading days of effective trading time meet the minimum requirement.

   Weekend sessions count towards effective trading time. A trading day is any calendar day within the official competition period on which the participant holds an open position or executes a trade, including Saturdays and Sundays. Availability at weekends is limited to those instruments OQtima quotes outside standard market hours, and the trading volume weightings set out under Remark apply to weekend trades in the same way as to trades executed on any other day.
   c) Participants who do not meet the minimum requirements for effective trading lots and effective trading time will not be included in the final rankings.
   d) Participants whose Final Rate of Return is negative at the close of the official competition period will not be included in the final rankings, irrespective of whether the effective trading lots and effective trading time requirements have been met. Only participants who achieve a positive Final Rate of Return are eligible to rank for the money awards and certificates set out in the Rewards Introduction.
   - Example 1: Client A participates in Team Silver during the competition period, deposits $200USD, opens 2 standard lot order, and holds the position for 5 trading days. In this case, client A meets the minimum effective trading lots and effective trading time requirements, making this data eligible for final review.
   - Example 2: Client B participates in Team Gold during the competition period, deposits $2,000 USD, opens 5 standard lot orders, and holds the position for 5 trading days. Here, client B meets the trading time requirement but does not meet the minimum effective trading lots (require at least 20 standard lots for $2,000 USD), thus this data does not meet the criteria for final review.

4. Special Explanation of Effective Trading Lots and Effective Trading Time:
   a. Scenario 1: Client A's account registers at the registration time (September 14th, 2026, 00:00:00) and holds trading orders from the start (September 14th, 2026, 00:00:00) to the end of the official competition. These trades (including closed and open orders) count towards effective trading time and trading lots.
   b. Scenario 2: Client B's account registers after the start of the official competition (September 14th, 2026, 00:00:00). Trades from the moment of successful registration until the end date (including closed and open orders) count towards effective trading time and trading lots.
   c. Scenario 3: Client C opens trades during the official competition but does not close them before the competition ends (October 11th, 2026, 23:59:59). This scenario also counts towards effective trading time and trading lots.
5. Calculation Formula and Explanation：
   a. Formula:

$$\textit{Rate of Return} = \textit{Profit} \div \textit{Initial Capital} = (\textit{Final Equity} - \textit{Initial Capital}) \div \textit{Initial Capital}$$

$$\text{Final Equity} = \text{Net worth of the account at the end of the competition (excluding bonuses)}$$

   b. Formula Explanation：
      - Initial Capital: Any funds not generated from trading activities, including initial deposits, accumulated deposits, transferred in, and MISC.
      - Initial Deposit (Equity): The net worth of the account at the start of the official competition (on September 14th, 2026, at 00:00:00 MT4/MT5 time), or the net worth at the time of successful registration after the competition has started. Excludes bonuses.
      - Accumulated Deposits: Deposits made after the start of the official competition (on September 14th, 2026, at 00:00:00 MT4/MT5 time), or deposits made after successful registration during the competition.

- Transferred In: Amount transferred internally during the official competition (on September 14th, 2026, at 00:00:00 MT4/MT5 time), or internal transfers made after successful registration during the competition.
- MISC (Miscellaneous Income): Total sum of all expenses excluding those generated by trading, including but not limited to cashback, dividends, SWAP interest, etc.
- Rate of Return includes profit and loss of all OQtima account instruments.

c. Scenario Explanation :

Scenario 1

Client A registered at registration period (on September 14th, 2026, 00:00:00). At that time, the account net worth was $2,000 (original equity). On September 14th, $3,000 was deposited without any trades. Therefore, the total Initial Deposit at the start of the competition (September 14th) is $5,000. During the competition, there was an internal transfer of $1,000, MISC amounted to $1,500, and a profit of $2,000 was achieved.

- Final Equity: (2000 original + 3000 deposit before competition) 5000 [initial deposit] +1000 [transferred in] + 1500 [MISC] + 2000 [profit] = 9500
- Rate of Return:

Scenario 2

Client B registered after the official start of the competition (September 14th, 2026, at 00:00:00). The actual registration date was September 21st, with an initial deposit of $3,000 (Initial Deposit), and an additional deposit of $4,500 was made on September 26th (Accumulated Deposits). During the competition, an internal transfer of $2,568 was made, $1,000 was withdrawn, and there was no MISC. A profit of $2,500 was achieved.

- Final Equity: 3000 [initial deposit] + 4500 [Accumulated Deposits] + 2568 [transferred in] + 2500 [profit] – 1000 [withdrawal] = 11568

- Rate of Return:

Rate of return 14.90% = (11568 − (3000 + 4500 + 2568)) ÷ (3000 + 4500 + 2568)

6. A participant can use multiple trading accounts for the competition:

a. Rate of Return will be calculated per individual account.

b. However, this does not mean participants can engage in malicious hedging across multiple accounts to manipulate competition results. Upon detection of such behavior, OQtima reserves the right to forfeit the participant's results. Monitoring of accounts across different participants will also be conducted, and results involving malicious hedging behavior will be forfeited.

7. During the competition period, participants can deposit/withdraw funds or make internal transfers. However, when calculating the rate of return, cumulative deposits and internal transfers will be considered as the initial capital amount.

   Example: During the competition, a participant's account total deposits of $5,000. Before the end of the competition, the participant withdrew $1,500, leaving a remaining balance of $3,500. However, for rate of return calculation purposes, the initial capital amount considered will be $5,000, not $3,500 (refer to Calculation Formula and Explanation).

8. Participants are allowed to use any trading technique or automated trading system that does not violate competition rules. Any arbitrage trading or other abuse of pricing and/or quoting will result in disqualification from the competition.

9. After the competition ends, OQtima will announce the list of winners within 10 business days and distribute the prizes within 30 business days. Winners of the money award must claim their rewards by clicking on the portal. The rewards are typically credited within three business days.

10. Discovery of cheating will result in immediate disqualification. The competition aims to provide a fair and just environment for all participants, and any behavior that undermines the fairness and integrity of the entire competition will be deemed invalid.

11. Participants must consent and allow the disclosure and verification of their relevant trading information on the platform.

12. OQtima reserves the right of final interpretation of the competition rules and terms.

13. OQtima reserves the right to investigate any incompliant operations based on reasonable grounds. If OQtima finds that a participant is involved in such operations based on reasonable grounds or suspicion, OQtima reserves the right to deduct, revoke, refuse the competition reward or cancel the participant’s qualification.

14. OQtima reserves the right to modify or cancel rules, terms and requirements related to this competition without prior notice or participant's consent.

15. Leveraged products involve significant risks and may not be suitable for all investors. The trading competition does not guarantee any results, and participants must bear the risks of participation on their own.

16. Participants are responsible for reporting and paying taxes on any Monetary Awards received. The Company is not responsible for withholding taxes or advising on tax obligations. Participants should consult their own tax advisors.
